

BIG FACTORY USED AS STILL.

One Thousand Gallons of "Moonshine" a Day
Was Being Made.

RAIDED BY REVENUE MEN.

Bars and Barricades Made It
Necessary for Them to Use
Battering Rams.

Internal Revenue officers made a descent last night upon a strongly fortified illicit still which had been in operation for more than a month in one of the most populous sections of the city. No. 615 East Twentieth street.

Bars, bolts and gratings reinforced the doors and windows of the moonshiners' plant, and it was only when two huge beams were used as battering rams that the revenue men got in. In the mean time the moonshiners escaped. Inside the officers found an expensive plant for the illicit manufacture of spirits. Fires were still burning under three copper stills and on the third floor of the building 100 barrels of sugar mash in vats were in various stages of fermentation.

Ten thousand boxes of yeast, unopened, were piled upon the ground floor. All three floors of the building were devoted to the use of the moonshiners, who, it was learned by the officers, had been working night and day turning out spirits of high proof at the rate of 1,000 gallons every twenty-four hours. A new spring delivery wagon and stalls containing two horses were situated on the ground floor, entrance to which was had by large swinging doors. These doors when closed were barricaded with huge iron and wooden bars. The office door was equally well secured against invasion, as were a rear door and windows.

Hanging from one of the rear windows the revenue men found a knotted rope which was in readiness to be used as a means of escape.

On March 1 the building, which had before been used for factory purposes, was rented by a man who said his name was Frank.

Later several wagonloads of materials carefully concealed in dry goods cases were taken into the building by "Frank" and four other men.

Capt. Joseph J. Veeley, of No. 316 East Eighteenth street, manager of the estate of which the building is a part, was informed by Frank that the place would be used by the latter for the storage of auctioneers' stocks.

Internal Revenue Agent Thompson, who conducted the raid, said to-day that the plant was the second largest ever raided in New York. The stills and their equipment, he said, had been service before. He knows the moonshiners, and his men are after them.

CRUSHED BY 300-LB. PIPE.

Both of John Hallstone's Thighs
Were Broken.

John Hallstone, forty-two years old, of No. 44 West Forty-third street, a scaffolding rigger, and James Kelly, a foreman in the Manhattan Railway Company's power-house, at the foot of East Seventy-fourth street, were injured in an accident this morning. Both of Hallstone's thighs were broken by a 300-pound iron pipe which fell on him. Kelly fell from the scaffold, which went down under the pipe, and was bruised. The hoisting gear gave way and let the pipe fall.

Hallstone retained consciousness and pointed out his injuries to Dr. Smith. He and Kelly were taken to the Presbyterian Hospital.

INSANE BEAUTY
RACES STREETS.

HANDSOME MRS. DIVINY
FIGHTS POLICE.

Caught After Chase in Rain,
She Is Taken to Bellevue.

Considerable mystery surrounds the case of a handsome young woman who is detained in the insane pavilion in Bellevue Hospital, where she was taken this morning from the Harlem Hospital. She became violent suddenly last night in Lexington avenue, near One Hundred and Second street, screamed loudly, declared that she wanted to die and then ran rapidly down the street.

When overtaken by a policeman she resisted arrest and fought all the way to the station. At first she gave a fictitious name and address, but the police learned later that she was Margaret Diviny, of No. 207 East Eighty-seventh street.

She is about twenty years old, good looking and was dressed in deep mourning. She passed Policeman Kearney at the East One Hundred and Fourth street station, at the corner of Lexington avenue and One Hundred and Second street, without attracting the officer's attention. Then she gave a scream and began running rapidly down the Lexington avenue. Her hair became matted and she was streaming out in the dripping rain. The policeman gave chase, and after a run of several blocks caught the woman. She offered all the way to the station-house, but after arriving there became more quiet.

200 LOSE WORK BY FIRE.

Three Buildings of Dyeing Plant
Near Patterson Destroyed.

Incident in the Evening World. PATTERSON, N. J., April 9.—A fire which threw 200 men out of employment occurred early to-day at a dyer's plant near Little Falls. Three buildings owned by Francis L. Marley and occupied by George Stritts, solvent-dyeing plant, were entirely destroyed. The damage was estimated at $100,000. The plant was situated in a room containing paint and oil, and spread so quickly that inside of half an hour only smoking ruins remained.

BURGLARS GOT DIAMONDS.

Newark Police Think Robbers
Used Chloroform.

(Special to The Evening World.) NEWARK, N. J., April 9.—Burglars secured diamonds valued at $500 from the home of Mrs. A. Clark, No. 23 Spring avenue, early to-day. The jewelry was taken from a jewel case on the awakening the occupants of the house. When Mrs. Clark awoke she suffered from a severe headache and a peculiar odor was noticed. The police believe chloroform was used.

ENOCH ARDEN A LADIES' MAN.

GILMAN SAID HE LIVED WITH SIX WOMEN.

When Wife Was Surrendered by Second Husband Don Juan Disappeared.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 9.—When Henry Daubert, of Emmaus, Pa., brought his wife to this city to-day to surrender her to her first husband, John Edwin Gilman, who was thought dead for twenty-eight years, he learned that Gilman had disappeared.

Gilman has been playing the Enoch Arden game with variations. Six weeks ago he happened into Emmaus and surprised his first wife. He told her he had been in an insane asylum for more than twenty years. He said he had gone West after his release and become wealthy.

He insisted on his first visit to the woman, and Daubert acquiesced. Yesterday there was an auction sale on Daubert's little Berke county farm and when everything was disposed of the old farmer and the woman, who was no longer his wife, started for this city.

Gilman in the meanwhile, it is alleged, turned out to be a scoundrel. Instead of having been in an insane asylum, as he told his first wife, he was living in New York City, and another woman, whom he has several children.

He went there under the name of John A. Moore. A Philadelphia paper, telling of his discovery of his first wife in Emmaus, declared that his first wife was at once identified by his wife, the Postmaster and others. Gilman immediately disappeared.

Returning from Emmaus, Gilman stopped here with his daughter, Mrs. V. P. of the city. He had a son, a street. Despite his demand on Daubert for the return of his wife, Gilman told his daughter he would rather drown himself than separate the woman from Daubert.

MARCONI SAILS,
SEEKING A REST.

WIRELESS INVENTOR ON A NON-WIRELESS SHIP.

It Is Said He Asked Equipment of Vessel, but It Was Denied.

Threat out from his exertions for the last twelve months, Sir Marconi, the wireless telegraph inventor, sailed to-day on the steamship Maudslayi for a two months' rest in his home in England.

I cannot get the rest I wish for in this country," said the inventor shortly before the steamship's departure, "I am a stranger here and my home is in England."

Mr. Marconi looked thoroughly worn out. He has not established the communication across the ocean he predicted he would during his stay here.

One of the high officials of the White Star line said this morning that the company had refused to accede to Marconi's request that a wireless apparatus be put on the steamship for his communications. He said that the line had not yet determined whether the Marconi was superior to the Sigsbee-Arc system.

Mr. Marconi was asked about the report that a committee of twelve men from the Board of Trade in England and the Chamber of Commerce in the United States was to be appointed to find out if a wireless message could be clearly sent for a distance of eleven hundred miles or over, as he claimed it could.

He said he had heard nothing of such a committee, and that he was not in a position to say whether the people believe in his system or not. He said that he had been in New York Harbor for a month, and that he had been in the wireless system installed on them, from which he derived an income of $50 a month.

The wireless system that is being established from New York to Havana, by the United States Government, will undoubtedly be a great success. I have nothing to do with it except that the Government is using my instruments. The distance is about ninety-five miles.

FAYERWEATHER WILL.
